My Home, My School (One Room School) Overview

NAWA (New Afghanistan Women Association (NAWA) is implementing the My Home, My School project funded by the Global Education Campaign \(GEC\) organization in 11 provinces of Afghanistan.

Project Summary
Project Name	My Home, My School (One Room School System)
Funded by	Global Education Campaign (GEC)
Project Brief	Under the theme of ending illiteracy in Afghanistan, GEC aims at establishing One Room School, home-based classrooms (my home, my school), in underserved rural and urban areas of Afghanistan and Pakistan. The children and especially girls are enrolled into the home-based classrooms and these classrooms are run and supported by the local communities. NAWA is implementing the project in 11 provinces of Afghanistan and is distributing stationery to children attending the classes.
Provinces where the project is implemented	Kabul, Nangarhar, Kandahar, Logar, Takhar, Kunduz, Nimruz, Laghman, Wardak, Uruzgan and Bamyan
Project Duration	October 2021 - October 2025
Project Target	100,000 children enrolled in the first phase by the end of October 2023
Project Impact	36,000 children reached and enrolled in the first year of the project (October 2021 - October 2022)

An estimated 4.2 million children are out of school in Afghanistan and 60% of them are girls - one of the most challenging places on earth to be a child. For many Afghan children, completing primary school remains a distant dream due to the lack of educational opportunities. Global Education Campaign (GEC) will provide a one-room school startup kit (2 Whiteboards, 40 mini chalkboards, 40 notebooks, 40 Pencils, 40 erasers, and 40 Sharpeners) and teacher training to help kickoff 25,000 volunteer-run, one-room schools, educating 100,000 out of school children by the end of first phase of the project (October 2023). NAWA (New Afghanistan Women Association) has been working closely with GEC in supporting the campaign by distributing stationery to the Afghan children in 11 provinces.

The initiative "Ending Illiteracy in Afghanistan" by GEC and implemented by NAWA aims to provide educational opportunities to as many Afghan children as possible who have been deprived of their basic right to education. NAWA has been striving to deliver the necessary classroom material to the most remote areas of the country ensuring the enrolled children receive the startup kit. NAWA is closely collaborating with GEC and potential other organizations to deliver and provide more stationery for the 4.2 million out-of-school children. In line with our vision and mission, we believe that this integrated and coordinated approach will increase literacy amongst the future generation of Afghanistan whilst contributing to the socio-economic development of the local communities.

Through the GEC's My Home, My School (One Room School System) campaign, NAWA has successfully reached out to more than 36,783 children of which 57% are girls.
